Survivors Well in Body Albeit Nervous and Hysterical — Thirty-Nine Women Were Widowed By Awful Catastrophe—Difficult for Many to Speak of Horrible Scenes They Witnessed—Titanic's Crew Praised—Berg Rips Ship's Bottom Open So Swiftly and Easily That Passengers Were Hardly Aware That Anything Unusual Had Happened—Including Captain Smith, All Were Slow to Realize Peril.

New York, April 19.—Lifted from the gates of death, the 745 survivors of the Titanic were landed here by the Carpathia, which rescued them two hours and a half after the great White Star steamer hurled itself against an iceberg last Sunday night.

Many were weak and nervous and hysterical from an experience that had left the world void and empty for them. But—and thousands thanked God for it as they watched—the majority of the sad and bereaved company were well in body.

Only one of the Titanic's survivors died while the Carpathia was driving through fogs and storms to this port. Four of the Titanic's people had perished trying to get aboard the Carpathia and another Titanic passenger lost his life by the overturning of a boat. One woman, a second cabin passenger who was landed, was suffering from a broken arm.

Thirty-Nine Women Widowed. The Carpathia reported that there were 710 saved out of a passenger list which the White Star line figured at 2,180, making a loss of 1,470 lives. The Titanic's passengers say there were 745 rescued out of a passenger list of 2,340.

The list of names furnished on the Carpathia on its arrival show 183 first cabin passengers saved, 115 in the second cabin, 178 third class, and 206 of the crew, a total of 687 saved. A woman passenger on the Carpathia heard from the ship's doctor that 495 of the passengers and 210 of the crew had been saved and that 39 women lost their husbands. Six of these were brides.

So cleanly were the police arrangements at the pier carried out that there was no surging of crowds, no bustling and halting of the Titanic's survivors.

From a score of passengers came the story of their awful experience.

Placid Sea Hides Death. The great liner was plunging through a comparatively placid sea on the surface of which there was much misty ice and here and there a number of comparatively harmless looking floes. The night was clear and stars visible. Chief Officer Murdoch was in charge of the bridge.

The first intimation of the presence of the iceberg that he received was from the lookout in the crow's nest. They were so close to the berg at this moment that it was practically impossible to avoid a collision with it.

The first officer did what other unstartled and alert commanders would have done under similar circumstances—that is, he made an effort by going full speed ahead on his starboard propeller and reversing his port propeller, simultaneously throwing his helm over, to make a rapid turn and clear the berg.

Rips Bottom Open. These maneuvers were not successful. He succeeded in preventing his bow from crashing into the ice cliff, but nearly the entire length of the great ship on the starboard side was ripped.

The speed of the Titanic, estimated to be at least twenty-one knots, was so terrific that the knife-like edge of the iceberg's spur protruding under the sea cut through her like a can opener.

The shock was almost imperceptible. The first officer did not apparently realize that the great ship had received its death wound and none of the passengers it is believed had the slightest suspicion that anything more than a usual minor accident had happened. Hundreds who had gone to their berths and were asleep were not awakened by the vibration.

Return to Card Game. To illustrate the placidity with which practically all the men regarded the accident it is related that four were in the smoking room playing bridge, calmly got up from the table, and, after walking on deck and looking over the rail, returned to their game. One of them had left his cigar on the card table, and while the three others were gazing out on the sea he remarked that he couldn't afford to lose his smoke, returned for his cigar, and came out again.

The three remained only for a few moments on deck. They resumed their game under the impression that the ship had stopped for reasons best known to the commander and not involving any danger to her. The tendency of the whole ship's company except the men in the engine department, who were made aware of the danger by the rushing water, was to make light of it and in some instances even to ridicule the thought of danger to so substantial a fabric.

Slow to Realize Peril. Within a few minutes stewards and other members of the crew were sent round to arouse the people. Some utterly refused to get up. The stewards had almost to force the doors of the staterooms to make the somewhat appreciative their peril.

Mr. and Mrs. Astor were in their room and saw the ice vision flash by. They had not appreciably felt the gentle shock and supposed then nothing out of the ordinary had happened. They were both dressed and came on deck leisurely.

It was not until the ship began to take a heavy list to starboard that a tremor of fear pervaded it.

Launch Boats Safely. The crew had been called to clear away the lifeboats of which there were twenty, four of which were collapsible. The boats that were lowered on the port side of the ship touched the water without capsizing. Some of the others lowered to starboard, including one collapsible, were capsized. All hands on the collapsible boats that practically went to pieces were rescued by the other boats.

Sixteen boats in all got away safely. It was even then the general impression that the ship was all right and there is no doubt that that was the belief of even some of the officers.

At the lowering of the boats the officers superintending it were armed with revolvers, but there was no necessity for using them as there was nothing in the nature of a panic and no man made an effort to get into a boat while the women and children were being put aboard.

Begin to Jump to Sea. As the ship began to settle to starboard, heeling at an angle of nearly forty-five degrees, those who had believed it was all right to stick by the ship began to have doubt and a few jumped into the sea. These were followed immediately by others and in a few minutes there were scores swimming around. Nearly all of them wore life preservers.

One man who had a Pomeranian dog leaped overboard with it and striking a piece of wreckage was badly stunned. He recovered after a few minutes and swam toward one of the lifeboats and was taken aboard. Most of the men who were aboard the Carpathia, having the members of the crew who had manned the boats, had jumped into the sea as the Titanic was settling.

Ship Breaks in Two. Under instructions from officers and men in charge the lifeboats were rowed a considerable distance from the ship herself in order to get away from the possible suction that would follow the foundering. The marvelous thing about the disappearance was so little suction as to be hardly appreciable from the point where the boats were floating.

There was ample time to launch all boats before the Titanic went down, as it was two hours and twenty minutes afloat.

So confident were all hands that she had not sustained a mortal wound that it was not until 12:15 a. m., or thirty-five minutes after the berg was encountered, that the boats were lowered. Hundreds of the crew and a large majority of the officers, including Captain Smith, stuck to the ship to the last.

It was evident after there were several explosions, which doubtless were the boilers blowing up, that she had but a few minutes more of life. The ship broke in half amidship and almost simultaneously the after half and the forward half sank, the forward half vanishing bow first and the other half stern first.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS HELD TOMORROW

PRESIDENT COPPINS AND OTHER MEMBERS SEEK RE-ELECTION ON NORTH SIDE—DR. OWENS A CANDIDATE ON SOUTH SIDE—NO OPPOSITION FOR ANY OFFICES.

Election for members of the boards of education for the Dixon schools will be held on both sides of the river tomorrow afternoon, the high school buildings being the polling places.

On the north side the president of the board and two directors are to be chosen, to succeed President W. H. Coppins, W. F. Morris and Paul G. Lord. As far as can be determined there will be no opposition to any of these candidates. The polls at the North Dixon school will be open from 4 to 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

On the south side the terms of President J. M. Batchelder, W. C. Durkes and Dr. E. S. Murphy will expire. None of these seek re-election. Dr. E. B. Owens has announced himself as a candidate for the presidency, while W. W. Winn and A. A. Rowland have announced themselves as candidates for board membership.

HAS BEEN HARD TERM. The teachers and pupils of North Dixon schools are waiting impatiently for the close of the school season, about six weeks hence. The extremely cold and long winter has made the present term of school seem much longer than usual, and the coming of warm weather will make them all anxious for the closing exercises.

New York, April 19.—Seventeen hundred and twenty-six lives were lost on the Titanic, which struck an iceberg at 11:45 p. m. Sunday and was at the ocean's bottom two hours and 35 minutes after. Of the Titanic's 341 first cabin passengers, 212 were saved; 154 of them were women and children, and of the 262 second cabin passengers, 115 were saved, 102 of them women and children. Of the third class passengers, 800 in numbers, 135 were saved, 83 of whom were women and children. Of 985 officers and crew, 199, including 27 women, were rescued.

Crew's Courage Unquestioned. No survivors can question the courage of the crew, hundreds of whom gave their lives with a heroism which equaled, but could not exceed, that of John Jacob Astor, Henry B. Harris, Jacques Futrelle, and others in the long list of first cabin passengers. The bulkhead system, though probably working, prevailed only to delay the ship's sinking. The position of the ship's wound on the starboard quarter admitted icy water, which caused the boilers to explode, and these explosions broke the ship in two.

The crash against the iceberg, which had been sighted at only a quarter of a mile, came almost simultaneously with the click of the levers operated from the bridge, which stopped the engines and closed the air-tight doors.

"We've hit something; come at once," Cotton at once communicated with Carpathia's officers, and her course was at once changed in the direction of the Titanic at full speed of 18 knots for the full distance of 60 miles intervening between the two ships.

When the rush of frightened men and women and crying children to the decks began, the "women first" rule was rigidly enforced. Officers drew revolvers, but in most cases there was no use for them.

Revolver shots heard shortly before the Titanic went down caused many rumors, one that Captain Smith had shot himself, another that First Officer Murdoch had ended his life, but members of the crew discredit these rumors.

Captain Smith was last seen on the bridge just before the ship sank, leaping only after the decks had been washed away. What became of the men with life preservers was the question asked by many since the disaster. Many of those with life preservers were seen to go down despite the preservers, and dead bodies floated on the surface as the last boat moved away.

Mrs. A. A. Dick, who was saved with her husband, said: "There was the wildest excitement after the ship struck. The crew first ran to the rails to prevent anyone from jumping overboard. I was standing near the first two boats that were launched. At first a few men struggled to gain seats, but when they saw us women they calmed down and put us aboard the boats. Their bravery was wonderful. The lowering of our boat into the sea was a terrible experience. The boats with the rescued passengers lay in the vicinity of the foundering vessel for about an hour. We had been assured by the captain that she could not sink. But she began to settle and our carmen made frantic efforts to pull far enough away so that we could not be drawn down with the Titanic in her vortex.

ISADOR STRAUS

Among the men who perished when the Titanic sank was Isidor Straus, the millionaire merchant and philanthropist of New York.

Plays "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The marine band did nobly. An air was struck up soon after the crash came and as we were lowered away we were cheered by the strains of music. After we had reached the water and until we were 200 yards away we could hear the music on board. Even when the giant vessel had lowered to the point where it was seen that she must go down, this music kept up. The last I remember of the Titanic was bearing the strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee." There was a great sound of rushing water and the vessel sank beneath the waves. I know that these musicians stopped playing that hymn only when their instruments were choked off by the swirling water that closed about their heads when they went to heroes' graves.

Statement by Robert W. Daniel of Philadelphia: "I had just left the music room and disrobed and was in my bunk when there was a terrific crash. The boat quivered and the lights went out. In the darkness I rushed on deck almost naked. There seemed to be thousands fighting and shouting in the darkness and then they got the storage batteries going and this gave us a little light. Captain Smith was the biggest hero I ever saw. He stood on the bridge and shouted through a megaphone trying to make himself heard. The crew obeyed his orders as quickly as could be expected. Five minutes after the crash everybody seemed to have gone insane. Men and women fought, bit and scratched to be in line for the lifeboats. I got a black eye and cut chin in the fight. Then Captain Smith seemed to get some order and the passengers were sent to fore and aft of the big boat."

Saw Men Praying. Continuing, Mr. Daniels said: "There was a frightful pounding noise throughout. I saw men praying as I struggled to get to the rail. Prayers and cries filled the air. Women who had been in the music room where a concert had been in progress were still dressed in evening apparel and wore diamonds. Other women had just got to their bunks and were in night attire. All rushed with one object, to get to the boats. Captain Smith remained on the bridge trying to make himself heard. He was still shouting when I last saw him. As the passengers got into the lifeboats women were thrown in if they did not move fast enough and an officer jumped in to command. The boats were swung from their davits and let down into the water. Hundreds, it seems, did not wait for the boats. They could see there was no chance and then they jumped overboard."

Mrs. Churchill Candee Tells Story. New York, April 19.—The action of the men on the Titanic was noble. They stood back in every instance that I noticed, and gave the women and children the first chance to get away safely. Particularly heroic was the conduct of Isidor Straus, Major Archibald Butt, John Jacob Astor and Henry B. Harris. They formed a group. Most of the passengers were on the stern of the Titanic, for the leak was forward, and it was known that if she sank it would be bow first.

An officer of the Titanic ordered Mrs. Straus into a boat. She said: "I will not leave my husband. We've been together all these years, and I'll not leave him now."

It brought tears to our eyes to witness her great devotion for her husband. Mr. Harris insisted that his wife get into a lifeboat. She refused at first, but was finally forced into the boat.

Mrs. Straus Waves Goodbye. As we put away I observed Mrs. Straus waving her handkerchief at us. The Titanic was settling. Her stern was out of the water, and she was going down bow first. There must have been 1,400 persons gathered together in the stern. I saw Colonel Astor helping get the women and children into the boats. Then he went below, remaining there several minutes. I believe he was searching for more women and children.

Finally he came back again. He was on deck when the Titanic sank. I believe, for when I last saw him he was still aiding in the work of rescue.

Major Butt was one of God's noblest men. I saw him working desperately to get the women and children into boats. What need can there be of recounting the heroic deeds performed by those men who remained on the Titanic? To dwell upon them only sickens the heart with the realization of how they perished.

HOSPITAL ADDITION PLANS BEING DRAWN

BOARD AWARDS CONTRACT FOR DRAWING THE PLANS TO R. E. SMITH OF CHICAGO.

$16,000 FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Limited Funds in Hospital Treasury Will Put Restrictions on Work—Many Improvements Needed at Institution.

Active preparations for the erection of the addition to the Dixon hospital were made at the meeting of the board of directors this week, when the contract for drawing plans for the proposed building was awarded to Richard E. Smith of Chicago. Mr. Smith has been instructed by the board to draw fifteen sketches for different arrangements and from these the board will select the plan they wish.

The selection of the Chicago architect was unanimous, the members of the board feeling, after hearing his explanation of the needs of a modern hospital, that he was most qualified to meet their demands of any man they had under consideration.

Is Experienced Man.

Mr. Smith is a man of wide experience in hospital buildings, and is a specialist along those lines. He has designed many of the most convenient and modern buildings of that kind in the country, and his selection by the local board means that whatever is done to the Dixon institution will greatly enhance its advantages.

Has But $16,000.

The board has but $16,000 to expend in the new building and many changes proposed for the main structure, and accordingly the extent of the work to be done cannot be forecasted at this time. It is certain, however, that a modern safety elevator, such as is necessary for hospital work, will be installed, the elevator alone to cost in the neighborhood of $2,500.

Chance for Benefactors.

The proposal to build an addition to the hospital, which is badly needed, will give an opportunity to Dixon people to assist in some excellent work, for in event subscriptions are received the amount may be swelled to such an extent that a very much more complete building can be erected. The opportunity is here and no doubt many of Dixon's more able citizens will assist in the good work.

MICHAEL MALONEY HAS PASSED AWAY

BELOVED CITIZEN, A RESIDENT OF DIXON FOR 61 YEARS, CALLED TO FINAL REST.

WAS POSTMASTER AND COUNTY TREASURER

Prominent Democrat, Who Had Filled Many Positions of Trust, Succumbed to Stroke of Apoplexy at 3:30 P. M.—Entire Community Mourns His Death.

Michael Maloney died this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and his passing takes one of the best men that Dixon ever had from a sorrowing community.

Mr. Maloney was stricken with apoplexy on Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock, soon after being elected a delegate to the democratic state convention at Peoria, which met this afternoon. Since that time he has lain at his home in a paralyzed and unconscious condition. It was known from the first that there was no hope but his fight for life inspired a possible hope for a partial recovery, at least. At noon today he was reported to be passing away, and since that time his pulse and respiration have been steadily dropping and it was known that the end was very near.

Was Prominent Man.

Mr. Maloney has been a prominent man in business and politics in this community for many years. He was highly thought of and much beloved and his hundreds of friends in this and surrounding counties will hear of his death with the deepest grief and will ever feel keenly the loss of the friendship and comradeship of this big hearted, big souled, broad minded gentleman.

Besides holding many positions of trust Mr. Maloney has been a wheelhorse in the democratic party for 40 years. In November, 1890, he was elected county treasurer to succeed Charles H. Hughes, and he was postmaster of the city of Dixon during Cleveland's second administration, from 1894 to 1898. He was also agent for the Illinois Central railroad at Dixon for many years.

Michael Maloney was born in Dixon, in a house near where his last home is. He was 61 years of age at the time of his death. His wife survives him.

There are two sisters, Mrs. Kate Jacobs of St. Louis, and Mrs. John Kennedy of Dixon, and three brothers, James, at home; John, in St. Louis, and Daniel, living in the west. One daughter, Mrs. Tim Kinney, also survives.

Mother Died Year Ago Today. Mr. Maloney's mother preceded him in death just one year ago today.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

STERLING VICTIM OF

Elks Enjoyed Dance.

About fifty couples enjoyed the second of the Elks' informal dancing parties, given last evening at their clubhouse, and the interest taken in the dance indicates that these affairs will continue to be happy events for the members. Music was furnished by the Marquette orchestra.

Adams-Marples.

On Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock to the Methodist parsonage in Amboy, William Adams of Ashton township and Miss Edith Marples of Brooklyn township were married by Rev. F. W. Merrill. They were attended by William Lester and Miss Elva Adams, a sister of the groom, both residents of Amboy. The happy couple will live in Ashton township, where the groom is engaged in farming.

Guest of Mrs. Frizelle.

Mrs. William Leach of Amboy was a guest yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. H. Frizelle on East Second street.

Cinderella Social.

The Queen Esther society of the Methodist church held a Cinderella social last evening at the church, which was attended by quite a large gathering of young people. Admission was gained by paying ten cents and a pair of old rubbers. Rubbers of all kinds, from all stations in life, were offered, from automobile tires to baby's overshoes. Various entertaining games were features of the evening, as was music. Whenever the Queen Esthers entertain, all guests attending have acquired the habit of expecting an evening of happy entertainment and they are always well entertained. Delicious refreshments were served. At some date in the future the members of the Queen Esther society expect to hold an old rubber sale and should be able to realize quite a bit from their goodly pile accumulated last evening.

WEAKLY WOMEN

are likely to find life and its duties a burden. To be tied down to the house day in and day out may turn even home into a prison! Women require a little change.

However some people think poor health is Fate's decree! At any rate to see others blithe and buoyant going while they suffer, certainly points that way.

But, be that as it may, Fate loses his power when understanding comes to dwell with us. That you may enjoy life as others do, a few moments of my time are yours freely.

Why a Tailor's Thimble.

If you have ever noticed a tailor's thimble you must have observed that it is not like the one your mother or your sisters use, because it has no top. As there is a reason for everything, there is a reason for this.

The stuff your mother sews on is usually very light and the needle is easily pushed through by pressing the top of the thimble against the needle. But tailors often have to sew very coarse and heavy material and they cannot get enough pressure on the top of the thimble, so they use the side and therefore they have no use for a top.

Not Like Canute.

At the Acorn Club in Philadelphia a young lady was praising the wit of the late Bishop Mackay Smith.

"He always had a pun ready," she said, smiling pensively. "I remember meeting him once in Broad street station. I was on the way to Florida at the time, and I said:

"Will it be very wrong, bishop, for me to bathe on Sunday in the Atlantic off Palm Beach?"

"The Atlantic off Palm Beach?" said he. "That, I fear, is a sea over which I have no jurisdiction."

ROBBED HOTEL BOUND OVER

LYNN P. PIERCE STOLE CASH AND PIPE FROM FRANKLIN GROVE HOTEL—BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY BY JUDGE W. G. KENT.

Lynn P. Pierce, a Rockford young man, was bound over to the Lee county grand jury under bonds of $300 by Justice W. G. Kent this morning, on the charge of larceny. The young man, who is one of a gang of magazine solicitors, is charged with having entered the Franklin Grove hotel office and stealing between $3 and $4 in cash and a meerschaum pipe valued at $7.50. The warrant was sworn to by Harms Brothers, proprietors of the hotel, and the young fellow was brought to Dixon this morning. He waived preliminary hearing and was bound over, as stated above. It is probable he will be taken before County Judge Scott on information, and given a jail sentence, as he admits his guilt.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Five Juggling Jewels, who opened at the Family last night for the remainder of the week, is one of the prettiest and most skillful acts ever seen here. They are five beautiful English girls and their manipulation of clubs is wonderful. They work single, double and triple, and the clubs are juggled in a manner that is bewildering. Ben Clark, the ventriloquist is good. The Dixie Minstrel Five is only fair.

INDIGESTION

Causes Dizziness, Nervousness, Biliousness, Sick Headaches and Sleeplessness

You know that most of the ailments named above come from an out of order stomach.

When your food reaches the stomach it should digest and furnish nutritious matter to the blood.

If it doesn't digest, but lays heavily on your stomach, it has started to ferment.

When it ferments it sets loose in the stomach poisonous gases which irritate the great pneumogastric nerve that leads directly from the brain to the stomach.

That irritation causes heartburn, dizziness, nervousness, and other ailments.

M-I-O-N-A is guaranteed to end all stomach misery, or money back. 50 cents at Rowland Bros. and druggist everywhere.

The teacher of chemistry in a nearby school has not yet recovered from an answer received in a recent lesson. The lesson had been on ox-

"Leather," came the reply.

"What do you mean by that?" enquired the teacher. "What is leather an oxide of?"

"Yes, I'm a Jew. I sell clothing."

"Wall, said the other, "I'm a Yankee, and in the little village I come from, I'm proud to say there ain't never been a Jew."

"Yes," replied the little salesman quietly, "that's probably the reason why it's still a village."

AN APPEAL FOR MORE BATTLESHIPS

NAVY LEAGUE SAYS GERMANY IS VIOLATING MONROE DOCTRINE AND U. S. NEEDS MORE WARSHIPS.

Editor Telegraph, Dixon, Ill.

Dear Sir:

Americans who imagine that the Monroe doctrine is acquiesced in by European powers should keep in touch with recent articles appearing in German publications. The Grenzboten, a leading German review, in the current number makes a sharp attack on the Monroe doctrine; and the National Zeitung, in commenting on said article, urges the "Fatherland to examine closely whether things, resting on such shallow legal and historical foundations as the Monroe doctrine need be tolerated, or whether, at the bottom, they are not merely American arrogance, which require sharp and decisive opposition."

German colonization concerns are lords and masters of over 8000 square miles of Brazilian territory, South America. The Hanseatic company of Hamburg practically rules in the state of Santa Catharina, and in the adjoining state of Rio Grande do Sul are still other German colonies thousands of square miles in area. Unquestionably a strong sentiment exists among Germans in favor of bringing South American territory under the German flag.

While the American people are practically unanimous in upholding the Monroe doctrine, nevertheless, in our usual happy-go-lucky way of conducting national affairs we overlook the fact that Germany is adding four capital ships to her navy each year. Naval strength is measured today by capital, or all-big-gun ships, and if the present congress adjourns without making any appropriation for two new battleships in less than three years, or by Jan. 1, 1915, Germany will have 21 capital ships to 10 capital ships owned by the American people. The excuse is economy; we must save money; but the same body that grudges twenty million dollars for two new battleships makes an increase of 75 million dollars a year for pensions, in addition to the 160 millions a year now spent.

The American people will never again let the Monroe doctrine go by default, as it did during the Maximilian Empire (1862-1865). Peace at any price, and taking a back seat, are not American policies. Ten capital ships against twenty-one would certainly furnish the basis of a long and costly war at a possible rate of ten millions a day for Uncle Sam.

(The Spanish war cost four millions a day).

True economy will mean the avoiding of any possibility of such a war by spending 20 or 30 millions a year for new battleships as insurance money against the horrors and cost of war. A nation that spends annually $1,700,000,000 for liquors can afford this amount.

Yours Very truly,
A. M. Dadmun, Corresponding Secretary Navy League of the United States Southern Building, Washington, D. C.

ANTI-FLY CRUSADE.

Aside from the fact of its carrying propensities, the fly is filthy and dirty. Its principal breeding place is in horse manure, in garbage pails and in filth of one kind and another. Flies are born in filth, they carry filth.

Statistics have been gathered from physicians, scientists and entomologists. Reports, statements and figures have been tabulated from the boards of health. All of this testimony simply amplifies the fact that the fly is not only a disseminator of disease, but is one of the most troublesome and loathsome enemies of mankind; more to be feared than a mad dog or a snake in the grass or a wild animal roaming at will.

The fly is insidious. He lurks in every corner. He plants his disease germs on your bread. He buries them in your butter. He drowns them in your baby's milk bottle. There is no escape if he once enters your home.

HAS MAMMOTH HEN'S EGG.

Philip Boos, living on the Rock Island road, has an egg that is truly a record breaker. The egg was laid by a Buff Rock hen and measures 8 3/4 inches the long way and 7 1/4 inches around the middle. Compared to an ordinary hen's egg, the big specimen looks like a football.

Mr. Boos who, by the way, has been a subscriber to the Telegraph for the past eighteen years, has a fine truck farm west of town and intends to supply the Dixon people, through the local merchants, with the finest kind of fresh vegetables this summer.

What's in a Name?

Mayor Brand Whitlock, of Toledo, was talking about a certain trust magnate. "He's got a bad name," said the mayor-novelist. "Hence he can't get a square deal. He's got as bad a name for a lawsuit as Dodgin had for a manager. Dodgin was the new manager of a biscuit concern. There was a workman at the concern who liked to sneak off to a shed at about three o'clock in the afternoon and smoke a pipe and look over the afternoon paper for half an hour or so. Well, one day, as the workman sat reading and smoking in the shed, Dodgin appeared. 'Who are you?' Dodgin asked sternly, frowning at the idle workman. The workman frowned back. 'Huh, who are you?' said he. 'I'm Dodgin, the new manager,' was the reply. At this the workman smiled. 'So am I,' he said, heartily. 'Come in and have a smoke.'

His Notion of Home.

A New York surveyor had an assignment that took him into the depth of the wilderness ten miles from camp. The camp was a hundred miles from the nearest railroad station. To his surprise, he heard the sound of an ax. He followed the sound and found a busy woodsman at work. He had cleared the timber away for a few rods about, and on that space had put up a snug log cabin. All the rest, on every side, was the profound, almost untrodden wilderness. The man stopped his work and greeted the surveyor pleasantly. "And where did you come from?" he asked. "From New York," answered the surveyor. "Live there?" said he. "Yes." The man gazed at him as if amazed, and by and by said: "Well, well! Gosh! I don't see how you can bear to live so far away!"

CAPT. ROSTRON
IN STATEMENTCarpathia's Commander Tells of Incidents Leading Up to the Rescue.

GOES TO TITANIC SPEEDILY

Says He Does Not Remember Receiving Any Message From Scout Cruiser Salem as Coming From President Taft.

BY CAPT. R. W. ROSTRON.

Statement by the captain of the Junard steamship Carpathia, rescuer of the Titanic survivors:

I cannot yet make a connected statement. I have gone through so much since I received aboard my ship the first distress call of the Titanic that a complete narrative is impossible. I was between 50 and 60 miles away from the Titanic when the wireless sang into the ears of my operator the first call for help. The operator said that we received only one call.

The silence after the first frantic appeal for relief was ominous to me. Our Marconi sent out rays that scraped the sky in vain, but there was no response whatever to any of our inquiries. I swung the Carpathia around straight to the position the poor Titanic's first aerogram said she occupied. Our engines were put at top speed.

The silence of the air so far as the Titanic was concerned made me shudder as we sped on our way to the rescue. I realized what it meant. On and on we sped. Our stokers never worked harder. When the first faint daylight came and I knew we were still miles from the spot of the tragedy, I felt as if we should arrive too late to be of any service.

Sights First Lifeboats.

When, however, after full daylight we sighted the first lifeboat filled with women and children and eight or ten strong armed and brave hearted men of the Titanic's crew, I realized that we could at least save a few human lives. I was too busy for the next hour or so to recall now just what occurred. My mind was wholly set upon saving the lives of the people who crowded the boats.

The sea was calm. There was scarcely a ripple upon its face. Great ice floes were crunching down from the north. In the distance several icebergs shimmered like mirrors. Why the lifeboats were not crushed by the swiftly moving ice floes I could not understand. The 16 boats seemed at first nearly all women.

I remember that it occurred to me that the good God had stretched out his mighty hand and had checked further murder by his elements.

We got aboard the Carpathia every human being in the 16 lifeboats of the Titanic. Every officer and member of our crew stood by like the brave and loyal lads they are and did his full duty.

My mind is in no condition now to tell you much more of what I heard and felt during the two hours' work of the rescues.

We took aboard 705 women and children who were alive, but some of them were unconscious. We also dragged to the decks of the Carpathia four members of the Titanic's crew who had been tumbled off to man the lifeboats and were stark dead. They had been frozen to death. Their strong, horny fingers still clutched the oars that they had been desperately pulling. We buried these men in sailors' graves only yesterday from the deck of the Carpathia.

Doesn't Recall President's Message.

I am told that it was reported to President Taft by Captain Chanler of the scout cruiser Salem that the Carpathia had received Wednesday night wireless messages from the commander of the Salem asking in the name of the president if Major Butt, John Jacob Astor, Frank Millet, Clarence Moore and Isidor Straus were aboard his vessel.

Upon my word as a man—upon my honor as a sailor, I cannot remember receiving any such message from Captain Chanler or anybody else in the name of the president or any other person. Had such a message been referred to me I immediately would have ordered that all other business of the wireless be sidetracked until the answer could have been sent to the president that none of his friends, of whom he had inquired, was aboard the Carpathia.

It is possible the Carpathia's wireless operator acknowledged, but refused to answer messages even from the president of the United States received after Wednesday night, as he had then been at his post more than 72 hours without rest. But he never reported such a message to me and I do not blame him.

Knows Nothing of Shooting. After I reached the Cunard pier I was asked as to the truth of reports that some passengers, and particularly some men passengers on the Titanic, were kept back from the lifeboats at the point of the pistol and that two well-known men were shot. Of course, I was not there. I did not see the ship go down. But from the survivors who came aboard my ship I heard no such story.

I do not give the least credence to that report. If I had to write about it would denounce it as an abominable lie.

The Carpathia was amply provided for the accommodation of the 705 persons rescued and likewise there was abundant comfortable sleeping room for the unexpected increase of her passenger list by bringing into requisition the big lounges in the saloons.

I thank the people who have congratulated me, but I am not entitled to any more credit than would have been due any other man of the sea had the opportunity for the service my ship rendered been afforded to others. I thank Almighty God that I was within wireless hailing distance and that I got there in time to pick up every one of the 705 survivors of the Titanic wreck.

MONDAY—SONS OF VETERANS TO ASSIST.

Preparation for the annual celebration of Memorial day, May 30th, will begin next Monday evening when at the regular meeting of the G. A. R., committees will be appointed to make the arrangements. It is hoped to make the day one of the most successful Dixon has ever had, as the number of old soldiers is decreasing with startling rapidity each year. The Sons of Veterans will assist the old soldiers in the work, and will hold a meeting soon after the G. A. R. meeting to appoint their committees, which will act in co-operation with those from the post.

SUFFRAGISTS TO INVADE

STATE CONVENTION

Both the republican and democratic conventions will be asked to consider the adoption of a woman suffrage resolution in their platforms today. Representative women from all parts of the state will try to persuade the party delegates that votes for women will be received with approval.

There will be a special train on the Chicago and Alton railroad to the republican convention at Springfield for the "Chicago committee of one hundred," in charge of Miss Jane Addams and Dr. Anna Blount. Other prominent suffragists who will attend this convention will include the names of Mrs. Herbert Chatfield Taylor, Mrs. Emmons Blaine and Mrs. Tiffany Blake.

The same day Mrs. Catherine Vaughn McCulloch accompanied by a committee of one hundred will leave for Peoria to persuade the democrats that they must approve politically votes for women.

The result of the primary elections of April 9, when the men of Chicago voted two to one against the enfranchisement of women, did not dismay the suffragists. As only one-third of the polling places were covered by women, and in some precincts there were no suffrage ballots, the total vote of one to two was really very creditable. The general courtesy of the election judges, the unfailing encouragement of the press, the generosity of Judge Owens, who gave permission to put the question before Chicago voters, were all signs of an awakening interest and of a more intelligent public.

ILLINOIS NEWS

Spring Valley—Ferman Riva was thrown from a horse and suitered a broken neck, from which he died within a few minutes.

Mineral—The churches were closed Sunday on account of the small-pox scare here.

Princeton: This city is to have a new $20,000 city hall as the result of Tuesday's election, at which time the proposition to bond the city for that amount carried by a vote of 541 to 381.

Princeton: Andrew Vick of Walnut, indicted by the April grand jury for crimes against his two daughters, one 17 and the other 14 years old, broke down when arraigned in the circuit court and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to serve two terms in the penitentiary, from one to twenty years each. The prisoner is 45 years old, making it almost certain that his incarceration is practically for life.

Rockford: Florian Atton, aged 61 years, was held to the grand jury by Justice Norton under bonds of $5,000, being charged with being the unnatural father of a child born to his daughter, Sarah, aged 17, April last.

Galesburg: John W. Spriggs, despondent after a spree, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

Sterling: Efforts of many years to rid the city of the obnoxious frame building at the corner of Third street and First avenue will probably be successful through a new move by the city council, inasmuch as no license to operate a saloon will be issued there. It will be impossible to rent the store room for anything but a saloon.

Sterling: The condition of Henry Lutzjohann, who is ill of lock jaw, is much worse, despite the quantities of serum which have been given him. No hope is extended his family for his recovery.

MRS. DONOHUE PICTURED.

This morning's Chicago Tribune contains a photograph of Mrs. John W. Donohue, formerly a Dixon girl, daughter of Mrs. M. Jordan of North Dixon.

Mrs. Donohue is chairman of the reception committee for the second annual assembly of the Alumnae Association of St. Patrick's Academy, which is to be held in the twin ball rooms of the Hotel LaSalle Monday evening, April 29.

NEGRO IS HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Danville, Apr. 19—Because Neal Persons, alias Courtney, the negro who was stabbed at a negro dance hall here, was believed to be in a dying condition, Harley C. Hayes, a negro porter employed at a cafe, was arrested by the police on a state warrant charging him with committing assault on Persons with intent to murder.

CANINE LIKES HIS TOBACCO

Rock Falls, Apr. 19—It is not often that an animal will get the chewing tobacco habit. There are not many animals which love the taste of it, but the young hunting dog belonging to George Sheldon at the hardware store is a lover of the week. He will take all that one will give him and will go through the motions with the exception of spitting.

AGRICULTURAL FINANCE TO BE STUDIED ABROAD

Washington, D. C., Apr. 19.—The Southern Commercial Congress, through its president, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, began today the distribution of letters to agricultural leaders and thinkers regarding a nation-wide study of European systems of co-operative rural credit. This action arises from the meeting of the directors of the Southern Commercial Congress in Nashville last week when they unanimously voted to act on the recommendations of the conference on rural finance held in Nashville April 1 to 6 under the auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress, and with the co-operation of David Lubin, American delegate to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

COURT HOUSE DECORATIONS FINISHED SOON

Contractor Charles Lingel is rapidly completing the re-decoration of the second story of the court house and by the middle of next week the job will be completed. The hall, corridors and the sheriff's, circuit and county clerks' offices have been completed, leaving only the treasurer's offices to be done. Mr. Lingel apparently has given the county an excellent job.

LOFTUS MOVES TOMORROW.

J. H. Loftus will take advantage of tomorrow, when all saloons must remain closed because of the school election, to remove to the basement under the Plymouth clothing store, where he will conduct his business while his new building is being erected.

NORTHWESTERN CLAIM AGENT IS HERE

Claim Agent Ames of the Northwestern, is here investigating the facts in some of the damage suits which have been filed against the railroad company. Mr. Ames, who was formerly the chief of police of Appleton, Wis., is well known to local officers and as he is a good fellow, well met, the local police are glad to see him.

TO CONDUCT EXAMINATION.

County Superintendent L. W. Miller went of Amboy this morning to conduct the first of the final examinations for the rural schools.

CHICAGO IS AN APPRECIATIVE CITY

Joliet, April 19.—Stripped of his psychic divine and telepathic powers by the interference of a rude officer of the law, Prof. Hildebrand, spirit medium, clairvoyant and organizer of a new religious cult, began preparations for his departure for Chicago, where he believes the mental influence of the divinely empowered is regarded with more sanctity and where women seeking messages from the dead don't "tell tales out of school." "Chicago is the only city in the United States where the people are intelligent enough to appreciate the work of a real appointee of God," he told the police.

AGED WOMAN

BRUTALLY ATTACKED
Peoria, Apr. 19.—The entire police force of the city was formed into a dragnet to catch three fiends in human form who broke into the home of Mrs. Mary Burrows, aged 60 years who lives alone, and after holding the aged woman on the bed and committing an assault upon her, ransacked her little home and carried away a watch, a silver bracelet and $1.10 in money. Following the terrifying experience of Mrs. Burrows she crawled to the nearest neighbor's and gave the alarm.

DEMONSTRATION IN OUR BIG SHOW WINDOW

Mr. Klearance Kurtis is giving a demonstration in Our Show Window of how to sharpen KEEN KUTTER tools. He is an expert in his line and has given these exhibits in many of the largest cities in the country. Mr. Kurtis is a man of happy, genial disposition and we wish that all people who use razors, scissors, knives or edge tools of any kind would drop in and meet him.

He will be here only a few days.

COUNCIL PAYS BILLS TO AMOUNT OF $8280

CITY HAS ABOUT $40,000 IN THE TREASURY—WILL HAVE CONSIDERABLY MORE SOON—WILL PAVE DIXON STREETS.

The city council met yesterday afternoon at adjourned session and audited bills and ordered them paid to the amount of $8,280.17.

They also granted a wholesale liquor license to John Fellows, 117 Peoria avenue.

The city now has a balance of some $40,000 on hand in the treasury. There is $4,858.27 left from different departments and during the summer and fall there will be additional sums go into the treasury that will total about $22,000. The county treasurer will add about $11,000 and the saloon licenses in the fall will add $7,000 more. There will also be $4,000 or $5,000 from other sources. It is expected this money will be spent in improving the streets with brick pavements.

The amounts left over from the various departments are as follows:

CROSS OR FEVERISH! HALF-SICK CHILDREN

Mean their Bowels are Waste-clogged; Liver Sluggish and Stomach Sour

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little ones' stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little ones' stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

NOVELIZED FROM THE COMEDY OF THE SAME NAME.

ILLUSTRATED FROM PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE PLAY AS PRODUCED BY HENRY W. SAVAGE.

COPYRIGHT 1912 BY H. W. SAVAGE

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Lieut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but wreck of taxicab prevents their seeing minister on the way to the train.

CHAPTER II.—Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Porter has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop, a Yankee business man.

CHAPTER III.—The elopers have an exciting time getting to the train.

CHAPTER IV.—"Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get a divorce, boards train in maudlin condition. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears.

CHAPTER V.—She is also bound for Reno with same object. Likewise Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb.

CHAPTER VI.—Latter blames Mrs. Jimmie for her marital troubles. Classmates of Mallory decorate bridal berth.

CHAPTER VII.—Rev. and Mrs. Temple start on a vacation. They decide to cut loose and Temple removes evidence of his calling.

CHAPTER VIII.—Mallory decides to let Marjorie proceed alone, but train starts while they are lost in farewell.

CHAPTER IX.—Passengers join Mallory's classmates in giving couple wedding hazing.

CHAPTER X.—Marjorie is distracted over their situation.

CHAPTER XI.—Ira Lathrop, woman-hating backer, discovers an old sweetheart, Anne Gattie, a fellow passenger.

CHAPTER XII.—Mallory vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers.

CHAPTER XIII.—Mrs. Wellington hears Little Jimmie's voice. Later she meets Mrs. Whitcomb.

CHAPTER XIV.—Mallory reports to Marjorie his failure to find a preacher.

CHAPTER XV.—They decide to pretend a quarrel and Mallory finds a vacant berth.

CHAPTER XVI.—Mrs. Jimmie discovers Wellington on the train.

CHAPTER XVII.—Mallory again makes an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Dr. Temple poses as a physician. Mrs. Temple is induced by Mrs. Wellington to smoke a cigar.

CHAPTER XIX.—Slight of preacher on a station platform raises Mallory's hopes, but he takes another train.

CHAPTER XX.—Missing hand baggage compels the couple to borrow from passengers.

CHAPTER XXI.—Jimmie gets a cinder in his eye and Mrs. Jimmie gives first-aid. Coolness is then resumed.

CHAPTER XXII.—Still no clergyman. More borrowing.

CHAPTER XXIII.—Dr. Temple puzzled by behavior of different couples.

CHAPTER XXIV.—Marjorie's jealousy aroused by Mallory's baseball jargon.

CHAPTER XXV.—Marjorie suggests wrecking the train in hopes that accident will produce a preacher.

CHAPTER XXVI.—Marjorie tries to induce the conductor to hold the train so she can shop.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Marjorie's dog is missing. She pulls the cord, stopping the train. Conductor restores dog and lovers quarrel.

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Lathrop wires for a preacher to marry him and Miss Gattie. Mallory tells Lathrop of his predicament and arranges to borrow the preacher.

CHAPTER XXIX.—Kitty Lewellyn, former sweetheart of Mallory's, appears and arouses Marjorie's jealousy.

CHAPTER XXX.

A Wedding on Wheels.

The commotion of the matrimony-mad women brought the men trooping in from the smoking room and there was much circumstance of decorating the scene with white satin ribbons, a trifle crumpled and dim of luster. Mrs. Whitcomb waved them at Mallory with a laugh:

"Recognize these?"

He nodded dully. His own funeral barked meats were coldly furnishing forth a wedding breakfast for Ira Lathrop. Mrs. Wellington was moving about distributing kazoos and Mrs. Temple had an armload of old shoes, some of which had thumped Mallory on an occasion which seemed so ancient as to be almost prehistoric.

Posidick was howling to the porter to get some rice, quick!

"How many portions does you approximate?"

"All you've got."

"Boiled or fried?"

"Any old way." The porter ran forward to the dining-car for the ammunition.

Mrs. Temple whispered to her husband: "Too bad you're not officiating, Walter." But he cautioned silence:

"Hush! I'm on my vacation."

The train was already coming into Ogden. Noises were multiplying and from the increase of passing objects, the speed seemed to be taking on a spurt. The bell was clanging like a wedding chime in a steeple.

Mrs. Wellington was on a chair fastening a ribbon round one of the lamps, and Mrs. Whitcomb was on another chair braiding the bell rope with withered orange branches, when Ashton, with kazoo all ready, called out:

"What tune shall we play?"

"I prefer the Mendelssohn Wedding March," said Mrs. Whitcomb, but Mrs. Wellington glared across at her.

one dropped on the train like manna through the roof, even this miracle had to be checkmated by a perverse miracle that sent to the train an early infatuation, a silly affair that he himself called puppy-love. And now Marjorie would never marry him. He did not blame her. He blamed fate.

He was in solitude in the smoking room. The place reeked with drifting tobacco smoke and the malodor of cigar stubs and cigarette ends. His plans were as useless and odious as cigarette ends. He dropped into a chair, his elbows on his knees and his head in his hands—Napoleon on St. Helena.

And then, suddenly he heard Marjorie's voice. He turned and saw her hesitating in the doorway. He rose to welcome her, but the smile died on his lips at her chilly speech:

"May I have a word with you, sir?"

"Of course. The air's rather thick in here," he apologized.

"Just wait!" she said, ominously, and stalked in like a young Zenobia. He put out an appealing hand: "Now, Marjorie, listen to reason. Of course I know you won't marry me now."

"Oh, you know that, do you?" she said, with a squared jaw.

"But, really, you ought to marry me—not merely because I love you—and you're the only girl I ever—"

He stopped short and she almost smiled as she taunted him: "Go on—I dare you to say it."

He swallowed hard and waived the point: "Well, anyway, you ought to marry me—for your own sake."

Then she took his breath away by answering: "Oh, I'm going to marry you, never fear."

"You are," he cried, with a rush of returning hope. "Oh, I knew you loved me."

She pushed his encircling arms aside: "I don't love you, and that's why I'm going to marry you."

"But I don't understand."

"Of course not," she sneered, as if she were a thousand years old, "you're only a man—and a very young man."

"You've ceased to love me," he protested, "just because of a little affair I had before I met you?"

Marjorie answered with world-old wisdom: "A woman can forgive a man anything except what he did before he met her."

He stared at her with masculine dismay at feminine logic: "If you can't forgive me, then why do you marry me?"

"For revenge!" she cried. "You brought me on this train all this distance to introduce me to a girl you used to spon with. And I don't like her. She's awful!"

"Yes, she is awful," Mallory assented. "I don't know how I ever—"

"Oh, you admit it?"

"No."

"Well, I'm going to marry you—now—this minute—with that preacher, then I'm going to get off at Reno and divorce you."

"Divorce me! Good Lord! On what grounds?"

"On the grounds of Miss Kitty—Kitty—Llewellyn—or whatever her name is."

Mallory was groggy with punishment, and the vain effort to foresee her next blow. "But you can't name a woman that way," he pleaded, "for just being nice to me before I ever met you."

"That's the worst kind of unfaithfulness," she reiterated. "You should have known that some day you would meet me. You should have saved your first love for me."

"But last love is best," Mallory interposed, weakly.

"Oh, no, it isn't, and if it is, how do I know I'm to be your last love? No, sir, when I've divorced you, you can go back to your first love and go round the world with her till you get dizzy."

"But I don't want her for a wife," Mallory urged, "I want you."

"You'll get me—but not for long. And one other thing, I want you to get that bracelet away from that creature. Do you promise?"

"How can I get it away?"

"Take it away! Do you promise?"

Mallory surrendered completely. Anything to get Marjorie safely into his arms: "I promise anything, if you'll really marry me."

"Oh, I'll marry you, sir, but not really."

And while he stared in helpless awe at the cynic and terminant that jealousy had metamorphosed this timid, clinging creature into, they heard the conductor's voice at the rear door of the car: "Hurry up—we've got to start."

They heard Lathrop's protest: "Hold on there, conductor," and Selby's plea: "Oh, I say, my good man, wait a moment, can't you?"

The conductor answered with the gruffness of a despot: "Not a minute. I've my orders to make up lost time. All aboard!"

While the minister was tying the last loose ends of the matrimonial knot, Mallory and Marjorie were struggling through the crowd to get at him. Just as they were near, they were swept aside by the rush of the bride and groom, for the parson's "I pronounce you man and wife," pronounced as he backed toward the door, was the signal for another wedding riot.

Once more Ira and Anne were showered with rice. This time it was their own. Ira darted out into the corridor, hailing his brand-new wife by the wrist, and the wedding guests pursued them across the vestibule, through the next car, and on, and on.

Nobody remained to notice what happened to the parson. Having performed his function, he was without further interest or use. But to Mallory and Marjorie he was vitally necessary.

Mallory caught his hand as it turned the knob of the door and drew him back. Marjorie, equally determined, caught his other elbow:

"Please don't go," Mallory urged, "until you've married us."

The Reverend Charles stared at his captors in amazement:

"But my dear man, the train's moving."

Marjorie clung all the tighter and invited him to "Come on to the next stop."

"But my dear lady," Selby gasped, "it's impossible."

"You've just got to," Mallory insisted.

"Release me, please."

"Never!"

"How dare you!" the parson shrieked, and with a sudden wriggle writhed out of his coat, leaving it in Marjorie's hands. He darted to the door and flung it open, with Mallory hot after him.

The train was kicking up a cloud of dust and getting its stride. The kidnapped clergyman paused a moment, aghast at the speed with which the ground was being paid out. Then he climbed the brass rail and, with a hasty prayer, dropped overboard.

Mallory lunged at him, and seized him by his reversed collar. But the collar alone remained in his clutch. The parson was almost lost in the dust he created as he struck, bounded and rolled till he came to a stop, with his stars and his prayers to thank for injuries to nothing worse than his dignity and other small clothes.

Mallory returned to the observation room and flung the collar and bib to the floor in a fury of despair, howling:

"He got away! He got away!"

A. F. Graham returned to Dixon Saturday morning after spending Friday in this vicinity.

Ants Eat Through Lead Cables.

White ants are causing much trouble in South Australia in telephone cables and also in the underground electric light lines. On the lead sheathed telephone cables crosses between the circuits began to occur. Upon withdrawing some of this cable from the ducts it was found that the ants had eaten through the lead in many places. On the Sidney system of electric lighting the ants ate through the bitumen compound and then through the lead and high tension insulation next to the wire. To stop the ravages which will incur an enormous expense if not checked, a sort of pitch, is being applied to the cables. Carbon bisulphide is also being tried with the idea that the odor will drive the ants away.

Just Occurred to Him.

"It never struck me before," said Mr. Wimpleton, "but Dr. Temple stopped me this morning to tell me what a big, handsome, manly-looking fellow our son had grown to be."

"I don't see how you could help noticing it," his wife replied. "I have been aware of it all the time; but I guess a mother is more likely to look for such things than a father is."

"Oh, I've realized that Will was handsome and manly-looking, all right. You never have been any more proud of him than I have been."

"But you just said it never had struck you before."

"I mean it never struck me before how much he resembles me."

Its Suggestion.

"When I asked our new girl if she could do anything in the line of putting up vegetables she replied, 'I can.'"

"My dear, that sounds as if she was a French chorus girl."

WEST BROOKLYN NEWS

Now that the 20th is at hand, we will have rest from the elections for a time.

It is very important that every parent cast his vote at the school election on Saturday, April 20th.

Do not be the least bit surprised if we have a little spell of snow before long. That's some of our forecaster's predictions.

This is campaign year, so all our readers should have a good Chicago daily to assist him in securing the metropolitan news each day. Take advantage of our clubbing offers and secure this daily at a low rate.

Are your horses insured against paralysis and everything else before they must tackle the hard spring work? Don't delay any longer or you will be sorry for it. It's much better to be safe than sorry.

Frank Knauer hitched up one of his horses to drive back from the farm Monday and when he reached town the animal took sick with an attack of paralysis. It was as well as could be up to the time it was hitched up, when driving affected it so that paralysis was the result.

As a result of the village election on Tuesday, April 16th, Ed and Frank had a vacation for a day. These vacations have been coming pretty regular this month, so they say.

The Forresters are planning for a big day Sunday, April 28th. The arrangement committee in charge of the preparations for the day's festivities are: Grant L. Edwards, A. F. Jeanguenat, Henry W. Gehant, Matthias Haub, Jr., F. M. Bieschke and Alexander Jeau Blanc. This bunch of men on the committee is the assurance that the very best will be in store for all the Forresters and their ladies. The initiation will be commenced at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, while the banquet will be at 7 o'clock.

Any person contemplating taking out old life insurance should see the bankers in West Brooklyn before taking up their insurance elsewhere. They have an old line company proposition that will interest every body.

Jule Chevalley drove over to Sublette for our liverymen on Monday morning.

Mrs. Joseph Mettelle and son were visitors in West Brooklyn on Tuesday.

Henry F. Gehant, G. L. Edwards and George Schnuckel went to Dixon on Monday to attend the conventions of the precinct committeemen for Lee county Mr. Gehant and Mr. Edwards represented the Democratic votes for precinct No. 1, Brooklyn and Viola while Mr. Schnuckel represented the Republican voters in Precinct No. 1, Brooklyn. Mr. Gehant was also selected as a state delegate to attend the state convention and represent Lee county and assist in the work of completing the state ticket.

Ed McIntyre, Jr., was in town transacting business on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Henry Hildman went to Rockford Tuesday where she will visit her sister and family for the balance of this week.

Henry Ladenberger was in town visiting with his many friends Monday afternoon.

Vera Glaser, the six years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glaser, was suddenly taken ill with appendicitis Sunday and was taken to the Chandler hospital at once, where she underwent an operation at 11 o'clock. It was just a week at previous that the child's mother underwent an operation at the hospital for a tumor. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chaon of West Brooklyn and has her mother caring for herself and Vera. Mr. Chaon went to the hospital on Tuesday to visit with the folks.

We understand Chris Oester is expecting the arrival of that new automobile most any day now.

William Auchstetter has his garage all painted new awaiting his new car. We are sure the new purchasers will have much enjoyment with their cars.

Fred E. Biggart was in town Tuesday morning on pleasure and business.

Ed Henry, Amel Henry and George Swope went over to Compton Tuesday. They are removing part of the saloon building and will erect a cement block addition to the front of the present one and otherwise make extensive improvements in the structure as it now stands.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Gehant entertained on Sunday at their home on South First street, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Gehant and family,

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Long and daughter, Dolores, Miss Eva Arnold, Chris Henkel, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Sondgeroth, and Miss Zeta Meyer.

G. L. Nelles was in town from Viola on business Wednesday morning.

M. J. Bieschke went to Chicago Tuesday on matters pertaining to his store business. He returned home the same night, for on the next day he had a car load of flour to store away in the store ware rooms.

Frank Halbmaier was a visitor in our city on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jeanblanc and Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Gehant went to Chicago Wednesday morning.

Henry Moore was over from Compton Wednesday morning on business.

On account of the engagement of the Hutton Comedy Company at the opera house this week, the officers of the band had to call off the regular rehearsal on Tuesday night of this week. The regular practice will, however be held on the coming Tuesday and every Tuesday thereafter.

We understand that Mr. Beemer was selected as president of the board of highway commissioners at their meeting in the town clerk's office Tuesday afternoon. Also that C. A. Jeanblanc was selected as treasurer of the board. The third member is W. A. Derr who was elected at the recent township election.

Henry S. Jeanguenat was in town on business Wednesday morning.

At the village election on Tuesday F. W. Meyer was elected as mayor or president of the board while W. J. Long was elected to succeed himself as city clerk. The newly elected aldermen are M. J. Bieschke, John Dinges and John Halbmaier. Only fifty-three votes were cast and these candidates received nearly all of them with the exception of a few scattering names voted as mere jokes here and there. It was due to the lack of opposition that we account for the small vote polled, as it is generally the case where there is lack of opposition or contest, there is lack of interest also.

The hold over aldermen are O. J. Oester, Prosper Gander and D. L. Abell. With this election over but one important change is noted in the personnel of the roster of village officers. The same clerk and same aldermen are still occupying the seats of these respective offices.

F. D. Gehant is the person whose name and face is among the missing, for F. W. Meyer now has his former post, that of village president. F. W. Meyer enters upon the affairs of the new office as a man of good business ability, sound judgment and over alert for the best interests of those about him. He is certain to make one of the best mayors West Brooklyn has ever had. He is well acquainted with the finances of the village for he has been treasurer for many years, and during his reign every cent of the indebtedness has been paid and the new administration finds after the licenses are paid in for this year that there are several hundred dollars in the treasury.

very few villages, if any, can boast of the improvements that are to be found in West Brooklyn, and still point to their treasury with money in it and no debts outstanding at all. This is all due to the excellent management of our past officials, and we predict that those in whose hands are the reins now, that they will continue this progressive policy. They are all good business men.

On Tuesday, April 30th, will occur a box social and entertainment at the Foulk school, southeast of this town for the benefit of the school. The teacher, Theresa Jeanguenat, has prepared a fine program and invited everyone to attend and hear it. Ladies will please bring baskets with enough eatables for two. The entertainment will be free, so just bring enough money with you, to purchase a box for supper.

E. N. Swope was over from Compton on business Wednesday afternoon.

APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION UN-SCRIPTURAL.

Mark iii, 7-19; Matthew v, 13-16—April 21.

Text: "Ye did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you, that ye should go and bear fruit."—John xv, 16 (3. V.).

TODAY'S lesson shows the particularity with which the twelve Apostles were chosen. Some of the things said to and respecting them are equally appropriate to every one of Jesus' followers, but other things said to The Twelve and respecting them apply to none others of their day nor since. As for instance, the Savior said to The Twelve, and to none others, "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The import of these words clearly is that the persons indicated were assured that they would be so specially guided of Divine providence that they would set forth as the Divine will amongst men nothing to which Heaven would not assent; and they would declare not binding upon the followers of Jesus only such things as in God's sight would not be binding. In those twelve men, therefore, we recognize a plenary inspiration, or special guidance not accorded in this particular degree to others of the "brethren."

Surely there is no intimation in the New Testament that as one after another of the Apostles died other men were recognized as succeeding them. On the contrary, the Scriptures repeatedly refer to the "Twelve Apostles of the Lamb." Moreover, as the Jewish Dispensation began at the death of Jacob, in the recognition of his twelve sons, so the Christian Dispensation began at the death of Jesus, in the recognition of His twelve Apostles. And as one of the tribes of Israel was cut off, and is not mentioned in the enumeration in the Apocalypse, but the tribe of Manasseh substituted, so amongst Jesus' Apostles Judas is dropped and a successor is appointed.

St. Paul to Succeed Judas.

In the past we may have read too carefully the account of how the eleven faithful Apostles exceeded their authority in the selection of Matthias to take the place of Judas. They should have remembered that the Master specifically told them to do nothing until after receiving the heavenly benediction.

Acceding them with the very best of heart intentions, it was, nevertheless, an error on their part to select two names and to determine that one or the other must be the successor of Judas. They had no authority for so doing. As for the one upon whom the lot fell, Matthias, we hear nothing further of him. In God's due time, He Himself brought forth Saul of Tarsus. St. Paul tells us that he found evidence that God had chosen him for a special service from his mother's womb. And such special preparation and supervision we doubt not was applicable to all of The Twelve.

"A Crown of Twelve Stars."

The Lord's specialization of the twelve Apostles is variously referred to. He said, "Have not I chosen you twelve?" And again, "Ye shall sit on twelve thrones." In the symbolical book of Revelation He pictures the Church as a woman clothed with sunlight, standing over or near to the moon, which symbolizes the Jewish Law Covenant; and upon her head was a crown of twelve stars, representing the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

Again, later on in the same book, we find pictured the Church in glory beyond the veil, the Bride—the New Jerusalem. Of this City we read that it had twelve foundations, and in the twelve foundations the names of the twelve Apostles.

The recognition of successors to the Apostles was one of the first errors after their death. Every bishop was recognized as one of the successors and hence as possessing Apostolic authority. It was not long until the words of the original Twelve were neglected. The living bishops were acknowledged as speaking with the same Divine authority—up-to-date. Later great Church Councils were called in which these bishops, as claimed successors to the Apostles decided what should and what should not be believed by the Church, what was and what was not orthodox.

It can be readily seen that this exaltation of false apostles (Revelation ii, 2), contrary to the Divine arrangement, opened a flood-g

As farmers in Canada are going broke and land prices tumbling, no one will buy it. I have talked and advertised for ten years that only a third or less of either the Dakotas was good for farming and the good part of S. D. too high to buy. The last two crops show what is best. Cavalier county had crops in 1910 that paid for the land and also in 1911. 1912 promises much better and I will still give you a chance to pay for a farm with one crop. As an investment land here will pay better interest on $100 an acre than land in Ill. at the prices it is selling at as there so much of the rent has to be paid out for taxes, improvements and insurance. Having been here over ten years I predict Hundred Dollar land here in five to seven years. The farmers here are buying it and they are making money faster than any other farmers in the world.

DISTINCT VALUE OF PICTURES

Care in Selection and Hanging Will Be Well Repaid in Increased Pleasure Afforded.

"A room hung with pictures is a room hung with beautiful thoughts."
How many of us give the right amount of careful thought in hanging pictures on our walls? Do we ever think of the pleasure and effect on ourselves of the paintings or prints that are constantly before our eyes?
"That chrome makes me wild," says one protesting esthetic woman, as she gazes on a relic of the barbarous age in art. It is a vividly colored print of a very old and very ugly Juliet leaning over the balcony in the arms of a Romeo who would not take a prize for anything except climbing up a vine. The walnut frame is old and matches the execrable "whatnot" of our mothers' time. The whole thing is unpleasant, badly drawn, badly colored and absolutely out of place, and yet it hangs on, simply because some dead aunt saw fit to give it an anniversary!

Pictures should please. They should educate and elevate. They should be of the good painters. How rich is the treasure from which we can choose!
How wonderful are the modern reproductions at ridiculously little cost!
Begin now to tear down the meaningless prints that speak nothing to you. Hang upon your walls restful, beautiful pictures that will have just as much effect, psychologically, on your nerves, your mind, your soul, as the companions of your hours.

PHILOSOPHIC TURN OF MIND

Not Many Would Have Described Misadventure in the Terms This Boy Used.

As Miss Easton got into the elevator at a certain big school house the other morning she saw a boy, whom she was sure was one of "her boys," standing in a corner. He had a pair of crutches on which he leaned heavily, and Miss Easton, who knew she had seen him sound and well only the day before in one of her classes, exclaimed in amazement:

"Well, well, what on earth are you doing with crutches?"

"I met with a slight accident a few months ago," replied the boy in a voice she did not recognize, and as the elevator stopped at that moment he lifted his hat clumsily and got off.
Then she saw that one of his legs was gone and that he was not one of her boys.

"The 'slight accident,'" explained the elevator man to the perturbed teacher, "was being run over by a train, having one of his legs cut off, his skull fractured and his right hand badly mashed!"—New York Press.

A GREAT RECORD

THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT ABOUT THE RESULTS IN DIXON

Results tell the tale.
All doubt is removed.
The testimony of a Dixon citizen can be easily investigated.
What better proof can be had?
Mrs. W. H. Randall, 423 College avenue, Dixon, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our home with the best of results and I feel that I cannot praise them too highly. One member of the family suffered for some time from backache and severe pains across the kidneys and found great difficulty in stooping. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leake Bros. & Co.'s Drug Store, brought prompt relief, removing all symptoms of kidney complaint." (Statement given April 14, 1909.)

A Lasting Effect

On January 11, 1910, Mrs. Randall said: "Doan's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in the case of a member of our family. I still have great confidence in this remedy and will willingly permit the further publication of my former statement in its favor."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50

ISMAY IN STATEMENT

Says He Left Titanic on the Last Boat.

Welcomes Investigation by Committee
From U. S. Senate or Any Other Source, Is His Comment.

New York, April 19.—J. Bruce Ismay left the ship last night and went to the rear of the dock where the offices of the Cunard line are located. He was guarded by detectives and only a limited number of newspaper men were admitted to his room. He wore a new suit of clothes and one of the new fashioned Scotch caps. He gave out a carefully prepared statement at his desk. His statement was read by one of the officers of the White Star line and then someone asked:

"On what boat did you leave the Titanic?"

He said: "What do you mean; I don't know what you mean."

He was asked on what boat he left the ship and replied: "I left on a boat leaving from the center."

He was asked what the number of the boat was and replied: "The last one. I left from the starboard forward collapsible, the last boat to leave."

He said regarding the collision that the Titanic hit the iceberg a glancing blow and that she slid off, and that in his opinion and in the opinion of experts she tore out a large part of her keel. He then went on to state, as follows:

"In the presence and under the shadow of a catastrophe so overwhelming my feelings are too deep for expression in words. I have only to say that the White Star line, its officers and employees, will do everything possible to alleviate the suffering and sorrows of the survivors and the relatives and friends of those who have perished. The Titanic was the last word in shipbuilding. Every regulation prescribed by the British board of trade had been rigidly complied with. The master, officers and crew were the most experienced and skillful in the British service. I am informed that a committee of the United States senate has been appointed to investigate the circumstances of the accident.

"I heartily welcome the most complete and exhaustive inquiry and any aid that I or my associates or our builders or navigators can render is at the service of the public and the governments of both the United States and Great Britain. Under these circumstances I must respectfully defer making a further statement at this time."

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line and one of those who was saved from the wreck of the Titanic, was found ill and in the care of a surgeon and a physician in the surgeon's quarters on board the Carpathia immediately after the rescue ship reached her pier, by the subcommittee of the United States senate investigating committee.

Mr. Ismay was visited by United States Senators William Alden Smith and Francis G. Newlands, who compose the subcommittee.

After two conferences, each of which lasted half an hour, Senators Smith and Newlands succeeded in exacting from Mr. Ismay his personal promise that he would attend today a session of the subcommittee that will be held in the Waldorf-Astoria.

SUGAR AND FLOUR Have Both Taken An Upward Turn Within The Last Week.

The outlook for flour is that it may work a little higher and remain there until the new crop weakens the market which will be August or September.

There seems to be no well defined prospect on the Sugar Market. The market is strong at present but no particular reason has been assigned that it should go higher, yet quite a few think it will.
